Volume 50, Issue 38

April 2, 2004

This week

Last week was supposed to be open, but wasn't. This week isn't, but is. Yep, Lion 1VP Will BERG is about ready to be a real Noontimer president.

Next week

Meg Horton, volunteer coordinator, and James Mangis, president and CEO, will be here to talk about Food Share — Ventura County's Food Bank.

Last week

Charles (Charlie) Wiley, a member of the Allied Educational Foundation/AIM, dropped by to tell us about how the news media has migrated from dispensers of events to advocates of positions.

Fascinating speech, but we wish he'd used a few more examples.

Lion C Andy STAY brought one of his oldest and best friends from Asia

[your BE goofed and didn't write down the particulars — sorry, Lion Andy.]

Ramblings from Ross

Put your imaginations to work if you please, and suggest to Lion Will Berg any possible themes for the June 11 installation gala to be held here at the Residence Inn. A "cowboy" theme has been offered, and also a "pirate and their lady" theme. Last year we did "hill billy" and everyone seemed to have fun dressing in work boots, bib overalls and floppy hats.

At our bored meeting this week we decided to look into donating the bulk of our money to a program for sight handicapped students in local schools, to be investigated by Lion Will. Or to a local eye doctor for emergency treatments, being investigated by Lion Dennis. Or to the local library for a Lion's area filled with materials for people with sight problems, under research by Immediate Past President Lion Dick.

More about these things later.

Winners

Lion P Ross OLNEY rigged the drawing and gave himself Free Fines, while our Secretary, Lion RC Rick SMITH somehow managed to make himself our Greeter — all the way from the back of the room. Lion Roland STEELE wasn't here when his name was called, so he won't pocket the $15 Attendance Prize, even if he shows today (fat chance). Lion Ross tried to turn a double-play by winning the $508 Mad Marble Malarkey kitty, but he came off the bag. One definite non-winner was Lion Dave GOSNELL who got a cell phone call in the middle of the meeting and left — missing picking up a Lotto card.

Elections

We will publish the list of candidates three times before we elect these turkeys. Hard to imagine that this is the best we can do, but it does appear so.
