Our Special Guest today is Dwight Roystom, Director of Ageless Men's Health in Santa Barbara. He will be speaking on how to stay young(er). This group needs lots of help.

Vel Linden, MSW, Director of Prototypes home shelter in Oxnard decided that the Noontimers could help out with their program and made a visit. Prototypes is an interesting program, providing alcohol and drug counseling to women with children. It's a live-in program where the inmates do all the cooking, cleaning and maintenance. They can use money as state funds are shrinking. They can also use donations of clothing and other household items for the residents or for their periodic yard sales.

Who knows?

Winners

Lion 2VP Ross OLNEY was here when his name was called, so he'll pocket just $5 if he shows today because Lion Jeff NORRIS pilfered the $15 Attendance Prize on the first day he was back from member-at-large. Lion Lance LAFFOON is our Greeter while Lion 1VP Tom CONTRERAS has Free Fines. In the Mad Marble Marlarkey Lion TT Roman VAISMAN took dead aim at the $134 kitty, but came up short.

What's Happening?

The Channel Islands Lions made about $1,500 on their Casino Night. Not a single Noontimer attended to help out. Next year they are going to hold it at Food Share and cook and tend bar. They are amenable to having us to bartending and some of the food for a share of the profits, although why they would want any help from us after we have stiffed them pretty thoroughly on their Casino Night and golf tournament over the years.

And while we are on the subject, your BE is having to write a bunch of tripe to fill space. The Noontimers have NOTHING AT ALL scheduled.

There will be a Food Faire at the District Convention on Saturday, May 14. Are there any Noontimers who would like to make an appearance, fix some food and have some fun?

Is there anything we can do as a club to have fun, bond or raise money? We can't be this derelict.

There's going to be plenty of empty space in this Bulletin. Your BE is out of ideas and we are out of activities.
