This week

As it is the last Friday of the month and because Lion 1VP Otto SCHIMMEL is lazy (he's a Noontimer, after all), we have no program today. Truthfully, he has been doing a great job getting programs for us.

Next week

Nothing yet.

Bonnie Atmore from the Rancho Ventura Conservation Trust dropped by to talk about how they started the trust, how many other land owners joined in to make sure than the land would continue to be used for ranching and agriculture into the future. They have had more than 2,000 people take tours since the Thomas Fire and are working on acquiring more land. Eventually, they want to have a campground where they can have kids stay for a week or two and learn about where their food comes from (not from Vons).

Because of getting ready for the Strawberry Festival, we had almost no attendance, so we held no drawings.

We came, we saw, we cooked. Lots and lots of chili dogs. We had to have made a profit, but our something less than illustrious Treasurer, Lion Tim TENOPIR, hasn't massaged the data yet — or, perhaps, he forgot to pass the info along to the BE. Either way, there is no report here.

Here We Go Again

Lion IPP Pat RIGGS has signed us up to man a polling station again. This time it's Juan Soria Elementary School. The election in June 5 and the only class we can attend is on Thursday, May 31 from 10 AM to 1 PM at the Community Presbyterian Church, 1555 Poli Street. Take California exit north to Poli and turn right, about 3 blocks.

If you cannot go to class, go online to <https://recorder.countyofventura.org/elections/elections/poll-workers/online-training/>

We need about 12-15 workers to man the whole day, so everyone needs to step up. Please do.

We Still Need Projects

It is clear that after the election, we have nothing left on the calendar. Does anyone have any ideas for an event?
