Our Special Guest today is Denise Carter who will be talking about hospice care. When not helping people in the home, Denise does standup comedy.

In an interesting coincidence, Denise's father worked at the Colonial House back when the Noontimers held their meetings there. Denise was born and raised in Oxnard. Should be an interesting meeting.

Nothing planned yet.

Last Week

Byron Sayre, with the Los Angeles County Fire Department, told us about ways of surviving a wild-fire, like clearing brush away from structures and eliminating or decreasing items that fuel a fire. Pretty timely program.

Winners

Lion Jeff DAVIS has Free Fines, while Lion C Dick MAGGIO is supposed to be our Greeter. Unfortunately Lion Dick, in honor of the Winter Olympics starting next month, attempted a Triple Salchow on the driveway of his Big Bear cabin and is having his femur fixed at Loma Linda hospital. And, yes, breaking your leg is preferable to being the Greeter.

Lion Byron WEDEMEYER, according to notes from Lion S Sal GONZALEZ, "won the Attendance Prize." Whether that means that he collected from the previous week or qualified for an undisclosed amount of money if he shows up today is unclear. Hopefully it will be clarified today. In the Mad Marble Malarkey, Lion Jeff DAVIS attempted the unthinkable — pocketing the entire kitty on the week he was fine free. Fortunately justice prevailed and he drew the wrong marble. Whew.

We were trying to get a student speaker contest going, but it appears that we have run out of time, unless one of the teachers has more speakers than another club can handle.

The Bored has agreed to support a food booth at this year's Strawberry Festival which will be held on May 19 & 20. A committee is being set up to make plans for the food booth.

May 19—20 Strawberry Festival: We host food booth (hopefully)
